

BRAZIL: THE AMAZON – PRE-TOUR TO THE BEST OF BRAZIL TOUR

30 SEPTEMBER – 5 OCTOBER 2019
16 – 21 SEPTEMBER 2020

Blue-and-yellow Macaws (photo Oz Horine) should hopefully be encountered on this trip.

The Amazon, certainly on each world-birder's wish list of destinations, is a vast forest deserving of many superlatives. With its astonishing list of nearly 600 bird species there are few better places to explore this incredible ecoregion than the vast reserve centered on Cristalino Lodge. Here an extensive network of forest trails provides opportunities to see over 40 species of antbirds, 18 species of woodcreepers, and foliage-gleaners, forest falcons, and manakins. The forest's most colorful denizens can be seen from the lodge's two canopy towers, including Spangled and Pompadour Cotingas, Scarlet and Blue-and-yellow Macaws, Paradise and Opal-rumped Tanagers, and maybe even Harpy Eagle. Numerous hard-to-find or highly localized species are easier to find here than anywhere else: White-browed Hawk, Tapajos Hermit, Black-girdled Barbet, Crimson-bellied Parakeet, Kawall's Amazon, Glossy Antshrike, Bare-eyed Antbird, Cryptic Forest Falcon, Tooth-billed Wren, and many more to look for at one of the best birding sites in the world.

This pre-tour to our Birding Tour Brazil: The Best of Brazil can also be booked as a stand-alone tour.

Itinerary (6 days/5 nights)

Day 1. Alta Floresta to Cristalino Lodge

You should arrive by 2 p.m. at the latest in Alta Floresta. From here we travel by van along a dirt track to the Teles Pires River, stopping at a palm swamp along the way to look for Point-tailed Palmcreeper and Sulphury Flycatcher. Once we reach the river we board a motorized canoe and slowly work our way up a tributary of the Teles Pires, the Cristalino River. Flanked by beautiful primary forest, this section of the Cristalino River serves as an excellent introduction to the southern Amazon. White-winged and White-banded Swallows skim the surface of the water right by our boat, Lowland Tapir often lounges lazily along the riverbank, and Scarlet and Blue-and-yellow Macaws may make a synchronized flyby overhead before we reach the lodge.

Overnight: Cristalino Lodge

Days 2-5. Cristalino Lodge

Although birding is rather challenging at Cristalino Lodge, the rewards will be great. We will take full advantage of our four full days of birding here to explore trails that sample all the various habitats at the reserve:

Varzea and Igapo Forest – Seasonally-flooded forests that harbor various difficult and rare species, such as Flame-crested Manakin, Bronzy Jacamar, and Long-billed Woodcreeper. The lower height of the forest canopy provides easier viewing of feeding flocks as well as our best chance to see the recently described Cryptic Forest Falcon. Nearby river islands in the middle of the Teles Pires River provide our best chances at seeing Restinga Tyrannulet, Glossy Antshrike, Amazonian Umbrellabird, Ladder-tailed Nightjar on its day roost, and many more.

Terra Firme Forest – A staggering diversity of birds inhabits the understory. Although they are often not easy to see we will spend plenty of time walking the trails in search of a nearly endless list of potential species: woodcreepers such as Red-billed Woodcreeper and Tapajos Scythebill (a newly described species not yet recognized by all authorities), antbirds such as Bare-eyed Antbird and Black-spotted Bare-eye, jacamars such as Paradise Jacamar and Blue-necked Jacamar, foliage-gleaners such as Para Foliage-gleaner, and Chestnut-winged Hookbill, etc. Patches of bamboo contain localized specialties such as Rose-breasted Chat, Manu Antbird, and Rufous-capped Nunlet. The two canopy towers at Cristalino will give us a chance at seeing a host of colorful species that are often hard to see elsewhere; Pompadour Cotinga, Red-fan Parrot, and Gould's Toucanet are just a few of the many tantalizing possibilities.

Serra – The reserve at Cristalino includes several weathered, geologically old, rocky outcrops that rise above the forest. These rocky knolls function as islands of deciduous dry forest. Thus they also contain their own unique subset of birds, including Natterer's Slaty Antshrike, Spotted Puffbird, and White-fringed Antwren. When the trees here are in bloom they attract a variety of rare hummingbirds, including Fiery-tailed Aowlbill and Tapajos Hermit.

Finally we will spend time cruising the beautiful Cristalino River in the afternoon and into the evening in search of both birds (Razor-billed Curassow and Green-and-rufous Kingfisher) and mammals (Lowland Tapir, Giant Otter, and Paca).

As you can see, there will be plenty to observe and experience during our time at Cristalino Lodge!
